- Get applications from schools you are considering (either from SDC file, requesting one from college or online) and apply (include application fee) *
- Go the extra mile. You are creating an application portfolio that tells a college of your capabilities.

- Complete FAFSA and have it sent to all the colleges you are applying to in order that they can access your information for Financial Aid purposes. Remember to do this early.
- Determine if the colleges you are applying to also require the CSS Profile form for Financial Aid. If so then go to www.collegeboard.com and complete the CSS Profile.
- Once you are accepted, review your financial aid packages and your transfer credit evaluation to decide which college is best for you.

Ask the question:

See the transfer counselor at your community college if you have questions.
